

Adam,

I am the mother of a child with disabilities who is concerned and confused by the new benchmark plans. Specifically because the habilitation plans are not outlined or even mentioned thus far. My child has shown significant improvement with her speech, physical and especially her occupational therapy. I believe that she is on her way to becoming an independent young woman because of these therapies and am concerned that her insurance coverage is in jeopardy for such therapies. I am pleading with you to take this into consideration before making any determinations that may change her therapy coverage. Thank you for your time. The Bertolino Family.
